Cop trial. Begs city for forgiveness

► "I never meant anyone to be hurt that night," said Franklin Mata. "I have lost my job, my name and the respect of the people of New York."

Former NYPD officer Franklin Mata became emotional in Manhattan Supreme Court yesterday when he begged for compassion from a judge deciding his prison sentence. The judge accused Mata of being a "simpleton" who stood by while his "morally bankrupt" partner, Kenneth Moreno, by his own admission, cuddled with a drunken woman who called the police for help. A mixed reaction to sex ed mandate

- Sex education required in city schools for first time in 20 years
- Opponents say it just won't help

Someone is going to tell your 15-year-old son or daughter how to use a condom. After a new mandate takes effect next spring requiring sex education classes at city public schools, that someone is going to be their teacher.

It's been 20 years since New York City last required sex education in schools. The last mandate came to an end after heavy opposition from school board members and religious groups.

The new mandate, which requires sex-ed in middle and high schools, comes at a time when 83 out of every 1,000 teen girls in the city become pregnant, according to the Department of Health.

Some schools already choose to offer sex-ed classes, but not many — 64 percent of middle schools and 38 percent of high schools, according to a recent survey by the Department of Education. But some say it's hardly working.

"New York City never learns. After 20 years of giving away condoms to high-school kids ... We should instead be teaching them about the consequences of sexual experimentation," said Bill Donohue, president of the Catholic League.

The mandated curriculum will include a course in sex-ed for sixth- or seventh-graders and once again for ninth- or 10th-graders. Students will be given information on topics including puberty, STDs, contraceptives and pregnancy.

The courses will also include lessons on dealing with peer pressure to have sex. The mandate is scheduled to take effect the second semester of this coming school year.

An ex-cop accused of serving as a lookout while his partner allegedly raped an East Village woman broke down yesterday during his dramatic courtroom appearance.

Franklin Mata, whose partner, Kenneth Moreno, was acquitted of charges he raped a drunk woman the two officers were called to help, pleaded to the judge for leniency during his sentencing yesterday for official misconduct.

He also seemed to be asking the city of New York to forgive him.

"I never meant anyone to be hurt that night," Mata said, his voice cracking and his eyes filling with tears. "I didn't think this one night would cost me two and a half years of my life," he continued. "I have endured plenty. I have lost my job, my name and the respect of the people of New York."

'Simpleton following a fox'

NEW YORK. Judge Carro portrayed Mata as a young officer reluctant to turn in his partner who had "morally bankrupt" intentions.

"For some reason you continued to carry your partner's bags throughout the trial, which quite frankly, I don't understand," he said.

"Maybe his attorney was talking about you when he described a singleton. Maybe you are the singleton following the fox." • METRO/AB

Judge Gregory Carro hoisted most of the blame on Moreno. "You certainly drew the short straw when you drew him as your partner," he said.

But he also told Mata that he lied on the stand and failed to stop his partner from breaking the law.

"Forever you will be a disgraced police officer," said Carro. "Forever you will have the scarlet letter shining on your back, and that's a serious punishment."

Mata was ultimately sentenced to 60 days in prison, much less time than his former partner, who Carro slammed with one full year behind bars on Monday.

Mata's lawyer, Ed Mandery, plans to appeal the ruling, but said he did think it was fair that Mata received a lighter sentence.

Chimney tumble kills teen

► 15-year-old fell to his death while hanging out with pals on top of school roof ► Horrified friends call 911 ► Hundreds mourn his death

A 15-year-old boy fell down a chimney chute and died on Tuesday, just blocks away from his Mill Basin home.

Nicholas Gryak, a sophomore, was hanging out on the roof of Roy H. Mann Junior High School with friends when the accident occurred at about 10 p.m. Tuesday night, police said.

He fell five stories before hitting the ground and his friends rushed off the roof to call 911, according to the Daily News.

Police were called to the scene at 11 p.m. and found Gryak's body in the basement boiler room at the bottom of the shaft.

Hundreds of teens arrived at the scene to mourn the passing of their friend, who was a student at nearby James Madison High School Brooklyn.

Within just 24 hours of the news of his death, more than 2,000 people had left messages on a Facebook page memorial that reads "R.I.P Nick Gryak, gone but never forgotten. 8.10.11"

► Actor Alec Baldwin, shown here on the set of Woody Allen's latest film, "Bop Decameron," said he's not afraid of skeletons in his closet damaging him in a potential political race.

Alec Baldwin may run for NYC mayor ... but not in 2013

It seems Alec Baldwin keeps himself in the news every day, be it with Twitter comments or his political ambitions. When it comes to the latter, the "30 Rock" star finally gave some concrete answers to the New York Times.

Does he approve of New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg? Yes and no. He has "nothing against him," but continues to be outspoken against his changing term limits.

"All the Bloomberg supporters look at me and say, 'What do you got against Bloomberg?'" he said. "Well, I don't have anything

Of the people?

Baldwin says that living on Manhattan's Upper West Side would help his campaign because it's "more middle class." Really?

► "It is more real," Baldwin told the Times. "There's old people, it's ethnic and it's economically mixed. I am more comfortable living where it seems more middle class, and I have lived there deliberately."

against Bloomberg, but there are term limits. The whole point is, whether you liked him or didn't like him, he's got to go."

Does that mean he is running for mayor? Possibly, but not in 2013. Why not? For one, "30 Rock" prevents him. For another, he plans on going to school.

When he does run for office, is he afraid of the skeletons in his closet? That includes his ugly divorce from Kim Basinger, a nasty voicemail about his daughter Ireland and his often-newsworthy brothers.

It seems he is not. He remained confident that he would be able to weather criticism of his past behavior. REUTERS

New York casinos soon?

ALBANY. Ante up: Gov. Andrew Cuomo is considering allowing full-fledged casinos to open in New York State.

Casinos already exist in the state, but they are Indian-operated only. Video poker games are available at the state's eight racetracks, including ones scheduled to open later this year at Aqueduct Racetrack in Queens. Cuomo said he is "actively" looking at whether to support a constitutional amendment to legalize gambling. "The gaming issue is [one] that this state has to come to grips with," he said. The last time New York tried to legalize gambling it was in 1997 and the efforts died in the state Legislature. ● METRO/CB

LOS ANGELES. Facebook has begun closing the accounts of California prison inmates after a convicted child molester viewed the pages of his victim from behind bars, authorities and the social networking site said Tuesday.

Facebook has shut down the accounts of at least two prisoners, and officials are working on identifying other accounts that had been accessed from behind bars, reports the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation.

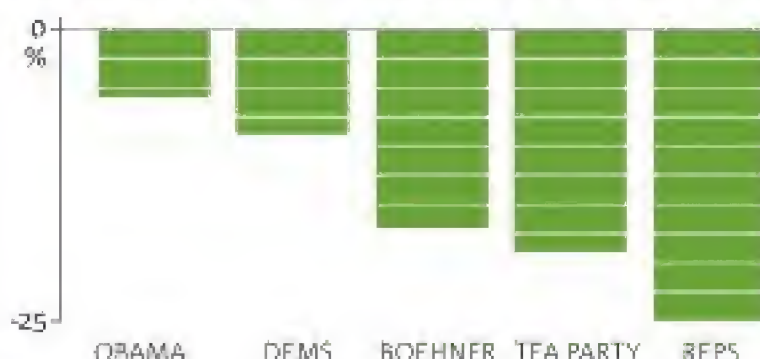

Though most prisoners in California do not have access to the Internet, they often log on to the Internet with contraband cell phones. REUTERS

Americans say US is on wrong track

Economic fears are weighing heavily on Americans, with a large majority saying the United States is on the wrong track and nearly half believing the worst is yet to come, a Reuters/Ipsos poll said yesterday.

The poll reflected growing anxiety about the economy and frustration with Washington after a narrowly averted government default last week, a credit rating downgrade by Standard & Poor's, a stock market dive and a stubbornly high 9.1 percent jobless rate.

President Barack Obama came out bruised but relatively intact from the brutal, weeks-long debt debate. His approval rating

"A difficult economic situation will create a difficult situation for the president when it comes to re-election a year from now."

IPSOS POLLSTER JULIA CLARK

dropped to 45 percent from 49 percent from a month ago, according to the poll conducted from Thursday to Monday.

But negative views on the economy are worrisome signs as he looks ahead to his 2012 re-election bid.

Gene links could help in MS cures

Scientists have found 29 new genetic variants linked to multiple sclerosis and say the findings should help drugmakers focus treatment research on precise areas of the immune system.

In a study published in the journal Nature yesterday, researchers said the newly-found links point to the idea that T-cells and chemicals called interleukins play a key role in the development of the debilitating disease.

"It is now clear that multiple sclerosis is primarily an immunological disease," said Alastair Compston of Cambridge University, who co-led the study.

Multiple sclerosis is one of the most common neurological conditions among young adults, affecting around 2.5 million people worldwide.

Most people who develop MS experience their first symptoms in their 20s and 30s, but Compston and colleagues say the trigger for the disease could happen in early childhood when genetic risk factors coincide with some as yet unknown environmental factor. REUTERS

Economy. Automobiles

▶ AAA found that more than half of American drivers said they are holding on to their older vehicles because they don't want the financial burden of a new one.

We can't even afford car repairs

In this current economic crisis, it should come as no surprise that Americans aren't in the market for a new car, but according to AAA, many owners can't afford the necessary repairs on the cars they own either. A new survey from the automotive group found that 1 in 4 American drivers could not pay for a car repair of $2,000 if faced with one today, while 1 in 8 would be unable to pay for a repair bill of $1,000. MAINSTREET.COM

"I have been in the jewelry business for 33 years. And I sell almost all my jewelry in the retail market with advertisements in the best jewelry magazines and on television, which means I have to find items to fill a huge customer demand. We are looking for everything, from costume jewelry to the finest estate items. We buy items for less than a dollar to more than $25,000. And we hope we can spend $400,000 or this week. I love buying antique jewelry. In the last 90 days, I paid $14,000 for a pendant, $7,500 for a bracelet, and $14,000 for a ring. I am a collector myself, and would love the opportunity to look at your jewelry."

WE ARE CONFIDENT OUR BUYERS WILL BEAT MOST LEGITIMATE OFFERS!

How to Test Us

Take your valuable items to other dealers before bringing them to us. Have them give you legitimate written offers. Then bring your items and your written offers to us. No one can guarantee to pay the highest prices all the time. But we believe the buyers we have chosen will beat most legitimate written offers.

Why Are We Telling You To Get Prices From Others?

Our buyers find it much easier to buy items of value from their customers after they have had previous offers. So it is in our own self interest to have you get written offers before coming to us. We also find that our customers are happier because they have the peace of mind of knowing they received a fair price.

Why Our Buyers May Be Able To Pay More

Our group of buyers will be here for only a few days. But in those few days, some of our buyers will buy more than many dealers buy in a year. Because of the volume of merchandise they handle, some of our buyers have developed world-wide markets and clients to liquidate their purchases at the best prices, which is one of the keys to why they can pay more than other dealers.

What Makes Us Different?

Most dealers who buy and sell items of value specialize in only a few areas. As a result, they are likely to make low offers for items in markets they are not familiar with.

For example, almost all jewelers specialize in new items. They do not often deal with old or used watches, which means they are unfamiliar with the true markets for such items. So if you have a used watch to sell, chances are a jeweler will make an offer on the low side because he does not want to make a mistake and pay too much.

The same thing applies to almost all items of value, such as lady items, art, jewelry, etc., that you bring to normal dealers.

Anderson, Carter, Bascom & Assoc. and Estate Buyer by MJD is different. Our volume buying has allowed us to bring together a large group of knowledgeable buyers. And although we do not control what our buyers pay, we believe they are comfortable paying prices that beat legitimate written offers from other dealers.

"UP TO" PRICES

IMPORTANT: All prices are based on rarity & condition. If an item is in poor condition, its value will be low. If an item is very rare, and in superb condition, it might be worth more than the "up to" prices listed. For example, a 1919 10¢ could be worth $1,400 in very high-quality condition or less than $1 in poor condition. In most cases, the "up to" prices listed in this advertisement are for items of exceptional rarity and quality. Chances are, you will not have those items. But we are willing to take the time to look at your items, just in case free of charge and give you our opinion.

IMPORTANT ECONOMIC INFORMATION

During the past few years, low interest rates, war, and an uncertain stock market combined to push prices of gold, silver, and many collectibles to their highest levels in 25 years. We have studied the investment and collectibles markets for decades, and in the past during times of economic uncertainty (which is happening now), there have been dramatic price declines in many areas of the jewelry, coin, and collectible markets. Which is why this may be the best time in decades for you to sell for some of the highest prices ever

British government brings the 'fightback'

A critical look

Critics say government policies of chopping public spending and raising taxes to cut a huge budget deficit have aggravated the plight of urban youth as the economy struggles to grow and unemployment rises.

The awarding of huge bonuses to bankers has become emblematic of a culture of flashy consumption for the elite.

"We are reaping what has been sown over the last three decades of creating a grotesquely unequal society with an ethos of grab as much as you can by any means," wrote Labor Party legislator John McDonnell.

► UK cracks down on rioters as violence spreads over the country ► Officials: Perpetrators are just criminals

U.K. Prime Minister David Cameron said yesterday "a fightback is under way" to restore law and order to Britain's streets despite rioting, looting and arson by gangs of youths spreading from London to other cities.

Youths fought running battles with police in the northern cities of Manchester and Liverpool as well as in the Midlands overnight Tuesday.

They smashed shop windows, carted off televisions and designer clothes, and torched buildings as police armed with shields and batons struggled to contain

Quoted

"These people have nothing to protest against. It is, pure and simple, acts of criminal behavior."

GARY SHEWAN, ASSISTANT CHIEF CONSTABLE, GREATER MANCHESTER

the disturbances.

A boosted police presence meant London itself was relatively quiet after three days of violent unrest that raised questions about the divided state of modern Britain.

About 16,000 policemen patrolled London's streets Tuesday night. Shops, pubs and businesses in many areas closed early after boarding up windows and the capital had the air of a city under siege.

"We needed a fightback and a fightback is under way," Cameron said.

The prime minister branded the unrest, which erupted in poor, inner-city areas of London during the weekend, as nothing more than criminality.

He made no reference to social and economic conditions which community leaders say sparked the problems. REUTERS

THE WORD

Metro's Monica Weymouth shares her take on the world of gossip • @monicaatmetro • monica.weymouth@metro.us — Dorothy Robinson will return on Monday.

Please make it stop, Jennifer Love Hewitt

We always thought that Jennifer Love Hewitt was unfairly portrayed as, well, a pathetic sap. Sure, she maybe shared a little too much about her personal life. And then there was that cringe-worthy relationship advice book. But it was all rather harmless chatter in a world that spawned "The Real Housewives" franchise.

But now she's going after "Bachelorette" rejects on Twitter? She brought this one on herself.

Four days after so eloquently tweeting "Omg! Ben f except my final rose!! Gotta book a flight to Sonoma !!!(;)]", the 32-year-old actress did, indeed, show up in contestant Ben Flajnik's hometown. "It seemed like a first date, but he wasn't overly affectionate towards her. Then all of the sudden she grabbed him and started making out with him," a source tells UsMagazine.com.

We can't even handle that 1998's prom queen has sunk this low. But, well, just in case she's on to something: "Omg! Zac Efron accept my creepy date invite:)]!!!"

J. Lo back for more 'Idol'

Jennifer Lopez was previously playing it coy about returning to the "American Idol" judges table; but she will, in fact, be back for Season 11, according to Executive Producer Nigel Lythgoe.

"I am delighted to say that all three judges, along with the brilliant host of 'American Idol,' [are] back for the next season," Lythgoe said yesterday during a call to "On Air With Ryan Seacrest."

Delighted? This guy is obviously not the one signing the checks or stocking the dressing rooms' minibars.

The ultimate 'Punk'd'

Although reports have Ashton Kutcher raking in around $700,000 per "Two and a Half Men" episode, TMZ claims to know it's actually in the $800,000- $900,000 range. That's right: The guy who did "Punk'd" is replacing Charlie Sheen in a sitcom that has fueled eight seasons with little more than masturbation jokes, on which he'll earn millions upon millions.

Go think about what you've done. All of you.

Justin Bieber is racking up more reports of bratty behavior, this time making a scene on an airplane with his entourage, according to Hollyscoop. The 17-year-old star and his posse reportedly wouldn't take their seats when asked. The plane's captain even came out to try to smooth things over, eventually asking Bieber for an autograph. "He rudely refused," a fellow passenger reports.

Red-hot carpets and awkward Situations

1: She plays the funny, tough girl so often, it's easy to forget that Emma Stone is smoking crazy hot. Consider this shot from "The Help" premiere your reminder.

2: Also looking stunning on "The Help" red carpet: Stone's co-star Viola Davis.

3: Kylie Minogue, you breath of fierce air, you. The singer hit up London's Piccadilly Theatre on Tuesday.

4: Jesse Eisenberg and The Sit-

Coming this fall: Time warps, snark and paranoid men

► After two weeks at the Television Critics Association press tour — spent meeting with network execs, series creators and stars — a few trends coming to your TV

Blast from the past

Like "Mad Men" before them, three new dramas look to the 1950s/1960s for inspiration: "The Hour" (BBC America; Aug. 17 premiere), "The Playboy Club" (NBC; Sept. 19 premiere) and "Pan Am" (ABC; Sept. 25 premiere). All three are gorgeously produced with attention to detail in wardrobe and set design, but only "The Hour" and "Pan Am" offer the same promise in storytelling.

"Terra Nova" (Fox; Sept. 26 premiere) gives viewers a different kind of time jump, sending Earthlings stuck on a dying planet in the year 2149 back to primeval times in a last-ditch effort to save civilization. The good news: Dinosaurs! The bad: Pedestrian acting and writing.

► Kat Dennings and Beth Behrs are "2 Broke Girls" in a new CBS series.

Hipsters

Two new comedies use Brooklyn as a backdrop: The more serious-minded "I Just Want My Pants Back" (MTV; Aug. 28 sneak peek with an early 2012 premiere) and sitcom "2 Broke Girls" (CBS; Sept. 19). Executive producer Doug Liman says "Pants" captures the "artistry" right now in Brooklyn, while "Girls" is more of a buddy-comedy.

Less Williamsburg and more twee is "New Girl" (Fox; Sept. 20). The crew behind this comedy refers to their lead as "adorkable" rather than cool, but c'mon — it stars Zooey Deschanel.

"Up All Night" (NBC; Sept. 14 premiere) shows what happens when the cool kids grow up. Will Arnett and Christina Applegate star as new parents struggling to balance a baby and their old lives.

Male identity crisis

According to ABC, "real men" are a rare breed. The network's new comedies "Last Man Standing" (Oct. 11 premiere) and "Man Up!" (Oct. 18 premiere) both attempt to get laughs out of the idea that men who can't change a flat tire are emasculated. Even worse is the premise of "Work It" (midseason premiere), in which two guys dress as women to get jobs.

In "Prime Suspect" (NBC; Sept. 22 premiere), sexism weighs down the drama's pilot as detectives badger the lone woman on their squad.

Corea, center, says the real adventure is in second-guessing his Return Forever IV bandmates.

Returning to Return to Forever

► Chick Corea on the eventual evolution of his jazz supergroup ► Why he likes not knowing exactly where his bandmates will take him with each performance

Even though Chick Corea began playing with some of the musicians in Return to Forever IV nearly 40 years ago, the pianist says he is still never sure where their collective improvisations will take them.

"The adventure is always second-guessing one another, that's part of the jazz game," he says. "The songs that we do are just sort of like jumping-off points."

The band has evolved in fits and starts, honing their collective skills in everything from Latin grooves and fusion to acoustic jazz, with a few elongated periods of silence abating their output, but Corea says they are always able to pick up where they left off.

"There's change always but there's a constant factor, which is the musician himself, and the friendships that we formulated, and the taste in music that we still have," he says, with a touch of a jazzman's Zen in his voice. "All of those things are part of the personality and it's what makes a great relationship. ... We're always sorting things out and trying different stuff every night — that's part of the way it goes."

Fans are wondering if there will ever be a new album from Return to Forever IV, which also includes bassist Stanley Clarke, drummer Lenny White, guitarist Frank Gambale and violinist Jean-Luc Ponty.

"I've written about 10 new pieces, and Stanley's got a handful of them and Lenny's got some new stuff," says Corea, "but we just have not had the opportunity to work it in. We have a short hour-and-a-half set and just the basic material that we're playing from the old days tends to run long. So we've got this music sitting there, and we're kind of tossing around ideas of what to do with it."

'Glee' hits the road

► A new concert film captures those singing high school kids touring America and Europe ► Why some get in character and some don't

For most television actors, the months between filming seasons of a show is a time for vacation or squeezing in film roles. For the "Glee" kids, not so much. Instead, they hit the road to tide fans over until new episodes hit the air. And now the cast makes a jump to the big screen with "Glee: The 3D Concert Movie," a best-of mix of the stadium tour that took them across the U.S. and to Europe during their summer off.

While the live tour isn't a new thing for the "Glee" cast — they did the same last summer — the experience of playing to 20,000 fans a night isn't something they find easy to get used to. "There's this huge fan presence that's undeniable, but when it's on social media it isn't as immediately tangible," says Darren Criss, who plays Chris Colfer's private school-attending boyfriend, Blaine.

The concert film also features some cute backstage

► The "Glee" kids rock out in concert for "Glee: The 3D Concert Experience." Read the full profile online at www.metro.us.

In character

For Chris Colfer, slipping into Kurt's persona is almost a safety precaution.

"I had to be in character, I had to be," he insists. "You just have to leave yourself at the door sometimes, because there's no way I could do 'Single Ladies' every night. I could not. That's when you just leave yourself behind and he just takes over."

interviews with the cast, done in character. In one especially humorous scene, Lea Michele's Rachel character is told that her idol, Barbra Streisand, is in the audience, which renders her speechless. Michele admits that real life isn't that far off. "I did get to meet her," she says. "I held it together and cried when she walked away."

► Jesse Eisenberg and Aziz Ansari star in "30 Minutes or Less."

'30 Minutes or Less'

1 Jesse Eisenberg plays a stoner with a bomb strapped to his chest by trash-talking lowlifes Danny McBride and Nick Swardson. His only hope is his ex-best friend, played by Aziz Ansari.

2 'The Help'

Emma Stone is en fuego this summer with her third release in two months, this time as a writer recording the lives of African-American domestic servants in the Deep South in 1963.

3 'Glee: The 3D Concert Movie'

Put this in the same category as the Jonas Brothers' 3D movie and that Bieber flick, and break out the studio money rakes!

4 'Final Destination 5'

Slowly but surely catching up to the "Saw" franchise, the kids in this movie may cheat death, but they will probably not escape lukewarm reviews.

5 'The Change-Up'

Body-switching comedies come around, oh, every three years or so, but this one starring Jason Bateman and Ryan Reynolds might be the first to offer plenty of raunch along the way.

Avoiding a near death

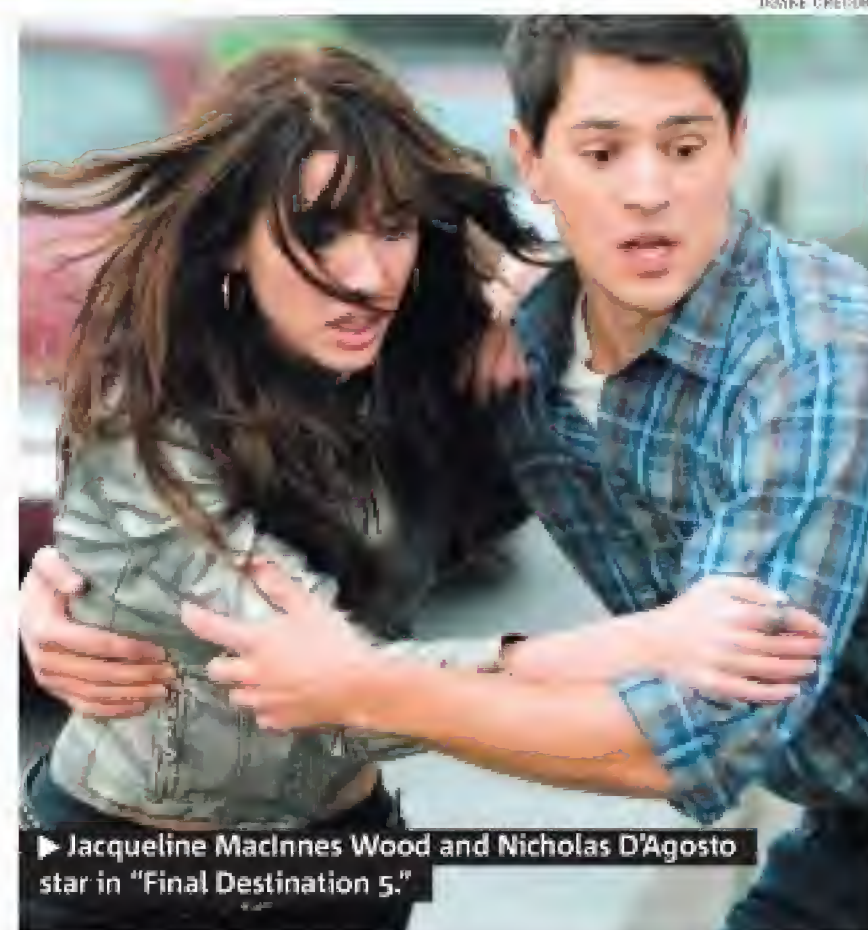

► Didn't like the last 'Final Destination'? ► Neither did the people behind the new one ► Why '5' will be better than the rest

The folks behind "Final Destination 5" want you to see their movie, but they understand if your faith in the franchise is a little shaken. "We wanted to say to everybody, 'This is a serious movie that we took seriously, it's well-made and it is not what you would expect, given the last two or three movies in the franchise,'" producer Craig Perry says.

The incredibly candid producer admits the franchise — about groups of people who cheat death only to have the grim reaper catch up with them in increasingly inventive ways — lost its way somewhat on the road to number five. "I think we had lost what made the original special," he says. "The first one was able to handle that balance between humor and dark portent, and some of the subsequent ones, we went so far into making it over the top that it actually became distancing." To help solve that issue, Perry and company brought in a new director, Steven Quale. "Steve made this one grounded and palpable and real," Perry says.

While Quale's directing resume isn't terribly long, his technical savvy came in extremely handy, since "Final Destination 5" was shot in 3-D. "Having directed the second unit and done some visual effects for 'Avatar,' I have years of experience working in the 3-D realm, and I think it's dependent on the filmmaker to figure out what he or she wants to do to organically make the 3-D part of the movie," he says.

► Jacqueline MacInnes Wood and Nicholas D'Agosto star in "Final Destination 5."

A serious 'Destination'

Quale proved the right man for the job for getting past what didn't work about the previous films.

"I don't like the word camp," he says. "I am one that really hates that kind of stuff. I mean, a fun movie like 'Austin Powers' is great, but that's what it is. It's a parody. And I didn't want that to happen to this movie."

One thing Quale and Perry definitely didn't want to use was the post-conversion process for making a movie 3-D. "The conversion process is a cheap way of getting 3-D that I think has diminished the quality of what people think 3-D should be like," Quale says. Perry agrees: "Sometimes people make a piece-of-s— movie. Converting it ain't going to change the fact that it's a piece of s—," the producer says.

Everyday Italian

► Chef Alan Bravaccini misses his homeland ► Lucky for us, we can get a taste of his Italian cuisine at San Rocco while he adjusts to NYC

A lot of restaurants claim to have authentic Italian food, but at San Rocco, they really do: Their executive chef, Alan Bravaccini, is an authentic Italian. Bravaccini was born in Emilia-Romagna, the homeland of tortellini and then honed his culinary skills in restaurants in Spain, England, and Brazil. But now he's crossed the ocean to work at San Rocco and he's so new that his English is extremely limited (this interview was conducted by e-mail). So how has the move gone? He's stressed out about New York real estate but loves Central Park. Yup, sounds about right.

How has it been living in New York?

Stressful! The transition has been difficult and finding an apartment is very hard. What is the most surprising thing about the New York restaurant scene?

The high competition between chefs. Also, they [claim] that Italian cuisine is their muse for new dishes but they don't cook traditional Italian food.

What's your favorite thing to cook on San Rocco's current menu?

I love to cook the Cotto e Crudo di Ricciol [a sauteed amberjack fillet with baby vegetables]. It makes me feel [at] home!

Is there an ingredient you miss that you can't get here in New York?

The Mediterranean fish — the flavor and the selection both. Also, clams in New York just don't compare with what I can get back home.

What has been your favorite thing to do in your downtime since you moved here?

I love to see concerts in Central Park.

Turn that finger around

RE: "STOP POINTING FINGERS": We at the hated Tea Party understand how governments operate, so blaming us is silly! Any government from the days of caves until now always spends the taxed people's money. Blaming the Tea Party is just a distraction they use to keep at each other. If we combined our hatred of each other at the real problem they would not stand a chance to spend us to death.

BUTCH CASS, VIA E-MAIL

Mr. Burton claims that President Obama is the least-effective president he has seen, ignoring the fact that the GOP has obstructed any policy initiatives, stating quite openly that their goal is to make him fail. Why? Because any success for Obama (and the U.S.) is a threat to their party. They manufactured the debt crisis and have sown the wind. Sadly, we must now all reap the whirlwind.

ERIC BLOCK, VIA E-MAIL

We should kick both parties out of power and throw our votes toward competent, mature patriots. I would also like to point out how absurd it is that billions of people's livelihoods are contingent on arcane processes that 999 out of 1,000 of them can't control and don't understand.

JOHN DAVIDSON, VIA E-MAIL

What has happened in recent days with the budget is a teachable moment. The idea that 40 freshmen congressmen can hold the U.S. economy hostage is unacceptable. This is too much power for a small group of people to have. I hope that Americans rediscover the need for political power to reside in the states. If ultimate power were in state capitals, then the only thing politicians can destroy is their own respective states.

RE: "ACCOUNTABILITY OF PARLIAMENT": What legitimacy should be given to murderers, arsonists and thieves? These aren't the acts of people who feel government has been unjust. These are the actions of lawless dogs who are attacking their neighbors. They're setting homes and businesses on fire with people still in them. You want to rationalize hate crimes against people who work for a living. In the real world, someone always has more than you. That doesn't give you the right to knock them on the head and steal it. Horoscope

Leo July 23-Aug. 22. Being in a gregarious mood is likely to produce a more industrious you. Spending your time productively gives you a bigger lift than wasting it.
Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Business and pleasure can make a compatible mix if you know how to handle it. Be responsible and serious when discussing the job, and a free spirit when the work is finished.
Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Even if you should be a slow starter, there are strong indications that you'll still be a strong finisher. When you get out ahead, forget about looking back to check on the competition.
Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Plan your schedule so that it contains plenty of activities that involve mobility of purpose and freedom of movement. You aren't likely to be productive if you're anchored in one spot.
Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Be sure to take a hard look into all your windows of opportunity. You're in a brief cycle where the possibilities for material growth are strong.
Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Productivity and effectiveness can be greatly enhanced by delegating some key assignments to various competent allies.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. You should be able to devote plenty of time to responsibilities as well as personal affairs if you can discourage others from hanging onto you.
Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. The best way to elevate your hopes and expectations is to think and act like a winner and not get so easily discouraged over minor, negative influences. Try it, you'll like it.
Aries March 21-April 19. Everyone is appreciative of receiving compliments, but if you listen carefully, they could significantly help you measure just how much progress you've really made.
Taurus April 20-May 20. Although you'll take all your involvements seriously, you'll still be quite philosophical about their outcome. This unruffled attitude makes what you have to do much easier.
Gemini May 21-June 20. Partnering with others for a common cause is your strong suit. Sharing something in common with another is an extremely rewarding pastime.
Cancer June 21-July 22. As long as another is able to contribute something you can't, a partnership arrangement can be quite advantageous for you. Life is easier when someone is sharing the burdens.

As we wait — and wait, and wait — for Season 5 of "Mad Men" to begin, we can quench our thirst for whiskeys at noon with Banana Republic's new "Mad Men"-inspired capsule collection. The line, about 65 pieces for men and women, is available at Banana Republic starting today and takes a modern approach to some of the greatest hits from Betty, Joan and Don's wardrobe. Expect to see animal prints, high-waisted skirts, chic tailored trousers, pocket squares and one smoking-hot tux that will make your boy feel like he's 2011's answer to Don Draper.

We spoke with Banana Republic Creative Director Simon Kneen and "Man Men" costume designer Janie Bryant to see how many Old Fashioneds went into making this suave collection.

What were some of your inspirations for the collection?

Janie Bryant: I drew inspiration from my favorite Mad Men pieces. I also have a few nostalgic pieces from my mother that had been made by my grandmother in the '60s. A favorite is my mother's engagement dress that is a royal blue A-line party dress with embroidered lavender and navy roses.

Retro fashion

What are some styles from the '60s that are timeless? And what's a style that should never come back?

JB: A timeless silhouette for women is a sheath dress. Other favorites are hats and gloves, well-made handbags, beaded cocktail dresses and anything lace. I am all about feminine, lady-like styles. As for men, you can never go wrong with a tailored suit. Regarding styles that should never come back, never say never!

Why do you think there's this fascination with fashion from the '60s?

Simon Kneen: What's not to love about beautiful, dressed-up tailoring? Janie describes the fashion from the show as character armor. It's fascinating to see all the faults of the characters, yet they put on this incredible facade of chic polish and panache.

Who do you think has the best style on the show?

SK: I love that Joan works her incredible silhouette so fashionably. Fit is everything, and I always encourage people to find the most flattering fit to complement their assets. Joan's a role model for that!

Did you guys have a whiskey or three to get into the mood of the show? What was the process like?

SK: Wouldn't that have been fun? It was actually over a strong cup of coffee at 6 a.m. that Janie and I first met. We had such a genuine connection and shared passion for tailoring and white shirts — we could talk for hours about white shirts! It sounds silly, but it's really how all this came to be.

Currently, who do you think has great style?

JB: Don Draper, of course.

Get your hands on Nails Inc., now at Sephora

Lately all things British are having their moment — the hats, the royal tan — and now Anglophiles have one more reason to rejoice: Nails Inc. — the popular British nail brand founded in 1999 by former Tatler fashion editor Thea Green — lands stateside. Over the years, Nails Inc. has developed something of a cult-like following for its vast range of colors (now with more than 40 shades, including 3-D glitter polishes, all of which are named after locations in the U.K.), fashion tie-ins (Nails Inc. creates special shades for London fashion shows) and — the reason we are so drawn to them — the adorable bottle. Even cuter: Each season, four new colors in the line come packaged with crystal bottle caps. We quite fancy it. METRO

Facebook to be 'destroyed' Nov. 5

► Following a recent announcement about a new social network run by Anonymous, the group voiced its intention to take down Facebook due to contentious privacy policies

Hackivist group Anonymous vows to "kill Facebook" on Nov. 5, citing users' lack of choice in privacy as its reason for attack.

Anonymous confirmed via a tweet that while some of its members are organizing the upcoming attack against Facebook, the hacker organization as a whole does not necessarily agree with the attack.

The group of hackers has claimed participation in just about every recent notable hacking attack of this year and successfully broke into 70 law enforcement websites and took down the Syrian Ministry of Defense website this week alone.

This recent interest in Facebook, despite a slew of privacy concerns raised against the social network since its founding, may be a result of Anonymous's recent announcement that it plans to create its own social network, called Anon-Plus. After the group's Google+ account, called "Your Anon News," was banned, it began fleshing out AnonPlus.com, "a new social network where there is no fear ... of censorship ... of blackout ... nor of holding back."

Statement released by Anonymous

Here is part of Anonymous' statement. Read the rest or watch the video message online: www.metro.us/tech.

Attention citizens of the world,
We wish to get your attention, hoping you heed the warnings as follows:

Your medium of communication you all so dearly adore will be destroyed. If you are a willing hacktivist or a guy who just wants to protect the freedom of information then join the cause and kill Facebook for the sake of your own privacy.

Facebook has been selling information to government agencies and giving clandestine access to information security firms so that they can spy on people from all around the world. Some of these so-called whitehat infosec firms are working for authoritarian governments, such as those of Egypt and Syria.

Everything you do on Facebook stays on Facebook regardless of your "privacy" settings, and deleting your account is impossible, even if you "delete" your account, all your personal info stays on Facebook and can be recovered at any time. Changing the privacy settings to make your Facebook account more "private" is also a delusion. Facebook knows more about you than your family.

Yankees ride Nova, Granderson to easy victory

The postseason won't start until Sept. 30, but it's hard to imagine Ivan Nova not getting a crack at starting one of those games.

Nova made a strong case to be the Yankees' No. 2 starter last night when he allowed three runs and five hits over six-plus innings in a 9-3 win over the Angels.

"He's been one of our best five guys," manager Joe Girardi said before the game. "The last three months, especially, he's been really, really good for us."

Since returning from the minors, Nova is 3-0 with an 2.61 ERA.

While Nova was rolling, the Yankee bats knocked around rookie Garrett Richards in his major league debut. They went up 3-0 just 14 pitches into the game when Curtis Granderson equaled his career high with his 30th home run. LARRY FLEISHER

Giants working double

Due to the lockout, teams have experienced a scheduling crunch in preparing for the season.

The Giants are no different. Most of the teaching in this camp has come from morning walk-throughs and position meetings because there aren't anymore two-a-days.

Head coach Tom Coughlin said the team will have to adjust to cramming what was usually two practices worth of work into basically one and a half practice sessions.

"Organizationally we are probably not as far along as you would like to be, so some of this stuff they'll have to pick up on the fly," Coughlin said.

Jets going 'West'

► Jamaal Westerman finally getting his chance ► Former Rutgers star is no longer buried behind bust Gholston ► Rex: 'I'm excited to see him'

It is officially "Go Time" for Jets defensive end Jamaal Westerman.

While much of head coach Rex Ryan's time during press conferences has been spent answering queries about AFC East rival New England, Ryan has consistently talked about the emergence of Westerman. Strangely, most of his talk about Westerman is unsolicited.

Entering his third year with the Jets, the former Rutgers product is suddenly the buzz of camp — a buzz built by his coach.

"I'm excited to see Westerman, we need to give him an opportunity. He does a great job," Ryan said. "Every week he played the best pass rusher on the scout team and he'd do a good job so I'm excited to see him."

There's a lot of chatter around a player who was mainly a special teams performer until this offseason. One reason he was slow to emerge is because he was mired behind Vernon Gholston, a former first-round pick who became a bust.

"We lost some pretty good guys along this defensive line. Guys who contributed a lot, were Pro Bowl players," Westerman said. "It's up to me now. I will never be more ready than this."

WR Smith signs with Eagles

Nothing like a teammate jumping to the enemy to stoke a rivalry. Former Giants receiver Steve Smith is now a member of the Eagles. Smith, who is recovering from knee surgery, likely won't be ready for the start of the season. Tom Coughlin met with Smith Tuesday at Giants camp and said he looked "really upbeat. The guys were excited to see him." He signed a one-year deal.

McINTYRE

LETTERS@METRO.US

It can be difficult to get fans to the ballpark in September if their team is out of it. Football has started, there are leaves to rake and did I mention the start of football? That's why teams resort to silly gimmicks to attract fans.

The Kansas City Royals, who haven't been relevant for two decades, are going to try to set a Guinness World Record for the "Most People Being Massaged" on Sept. 17. If you purchase a ticket in a certain section ($25), you'll get a Yoga Mat and receive a massage.

Will this event also set a record for the most happy ending requests? I can't wait until someone claims they received too hard of a massage and brings a frivolous lawsuit.

A team actually in a pennant race is also going the way of the gimmick: the Giants. The defending World Series champs are having "Star Wars Day" on Sept. 4 at AT&T park. The ticket package includes a seat in the "Star Wars" section, access to a pregame costume party and a "limited edition Star Wars/Giants" trinket.

Quoted

"Perhaps Serena Williams should revert her attention from nails to tennis."

If 1,000 people show up and 300 are women, how many will be dressed as Princess Leia? You know the outfit I'm talking about (hint: think Jabba the Hutt). I expect no less than 227 dressed as Boba Fett, and the lazy fans will show up as Han Solo or Luke Skywalker. There will be at least one ejection because a fight breaks out over which was better: "Star Wars" or "The Empire Strikes Back."

Ron Artest's heart will go on ... and on

Two years ago, Ron Artest went to a Britney Spears concert, and jokes were made; recently, he went to a Celine Dion concert, and then scurried backstage to take photos with her. It's still early, but the guess here is in 2013 he attends a Bonnie Raitt concert and in 2015 he'll be spotted at a Sarah McLaughlin performance.

Serena the reality bomb

I find it mildly stunning that non-entirety no-talents like Paris Hilton and Kim Kardashian have (or had) wildly popular reality shows, yet Serena Williams — one of the greatest tennis players ever — is failing to have someone pick up her show. Perhaps it was the content? Williams has been pitching a reality series based on "caring for and decorating nails." Apparently, she's big into nail care. Williams is one of the five best female tennis players ever, and for the first time since 2006, she is about to go the entire year without winning a major. Perhaps she should revert her attention from nails to tennis.

Manufacturers scramble to keep up with demand for powerful new diet formula

Consumers flood phone lines looking for SimplePure HCG weight loss solution (Canoga Park, Ca) - Ground breaking developments are shaking up the weight loss industry. HCG (Human Chorionic Gonadotropin) is a hormone produced by the human body that helps the body use fat more efficiently. According to renowned endocrinologist, Dr. Albert T.W. Simeons, HCG effectively sends signals to the brain to release fat stores creating rapid weight loss. For years, HCG was only available by injection making it less available to the general public. Now, with its new advanced liquid formula, SimplePure Nutrition has made it available in sublingual drops. Suppliers have been authorizing extra shifts for employees in order to fill the rising demand for SimplePure's proprietary formula.

Shipments are being rushed to suppliers in order to meet demand for new rapid weight loss formula.

- ✓ Rapid weight loss of up to 2lbs per day!
- ✓ No injections or pills to take
- ✓ Targets fat loss in problem areas

The makers of SimplePure HCG have set up a toll free national hotline for dieters in immediate need. For a limited time, they are giving away a free bottle so consumers can experience the rapid weight loss themselves before purchasing. The offer is only good while supplies last so the manufacturer suggests calling the hotline immediately to secure the free supply.

How to get SimplePure HCG for FREE

Operators have been dispatched to multiple call centers to handle the growing number of calls. To secure your free supply, call the 24 hour toll free hotline as soon as possible because inventory is limited.

Parcells re-joins ESPN as analyst

Former Giants and Jets head coach Bill Parcells will return to the ESPN studio this season.

Parcells worked most recently in the front office

Look at your toenails

Does something look "off"?

Take a look at your toes. Does part of your big toenail look a little yellow or brownish in color? It could be the beginnings of toenail fungus. Not only is toenail fungus embarrassing, but it can spread - to your other toes, from foot to hand, or even to your family members.

Right now, doctors in New York and Long Island are conducting a research study of an investigational medication for nail fungus that may help. This medication is clear and applied directly to the nail. If you join, you will receive the nail medication and all study-related care at no cost. You will also be paid for your time.

NO HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA - TCI CAN HELP!

TCI has found that many mature students who do not have a high school diploma or GED, but have life experience and are dedicated to attending classes regularly, can succeed in earning a high school equivalency from New York State at the same time they earn their Associate's Degree.

Students receive access to laptop computers to enhance their learning experience.

Financial aid to those who qualify.
